Road Fight Lost

Republican Senators Make
Futile Effort to Force Road
Bill Vote

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—New York's plodding legislature, after 25 hours continuous session, agreed today upon a $1,900,000 increase in the state budget, appropriated $708,500 for investigating committees and commissions and prepared to go home.

At the same time, the weary legislators voted to legalize "test" dog racing, to prohibit public office to persons advocating forceful overthrow of government and to modify capital gains and losses provisions of the state income tax law.

The additional $1,900,000 for legislative expenses and increased departmental costs brought the total 1938-39 state budget to $388,264,000. The committee appropriations are provided from the legislative fund already provided in the original budget.

The largest single appropriation, $250,000, was provided for a 15-member committee trip to the Golden Gate exposition at San Francisco to study exhibits and prepare for New York's World Fair in 1939.

Republican Senators, shortly before adjournment, made a futile effort to force a floor vote of a bill requiring the first three cents of any state gasoline tax and all motor vehicle revenue fees be set aside exclusively for highway construction purposes.

Delay in final adjournment originally set for 5 p. m. yesterday was caused by partisan wrangling over investigating committee appropriations and an overwhelming flood of hundreds of bills mostly of local and minor nature still remaining on the calendar.

Bills to Governor

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—New York's Legislature in its closing hours sent bills to Governor Lehman for signature or veto which would:

Extend the four-year-old mortgage moratorium until January 1, 1940 and continue exemption from deficiency judgments in mortgage foreclosures until January 1, 1941.

Reduce from 20 to six years the period for actions on bonds and mortgages under the statute of limitations.

Limit to January 1, 1943, actions on bonds in connection with

3 Gypsies to Come Back to County
To Answer Charge

Three gypsies traveling through Marlborough a week ago stopped at the home of Frank Sands and made inquiry as to where the Catholic Church was located. After being given the information two of the women tarried and continued the conversation and finally asked Mr. Sands whether he suffered from rheumatism.
When the gypsies left Mr. Sands made an inspection of his wallet and discovered that he was $110 short. The visit of the gypsies and their interest in his welfare was reported to Sergeant Huise of the Highland outpost of the State Police and an alarm was sent out.

From witnesses it was discovered the gypsies had been traveling in a car bearing a black and white license plate and this indicated an Ohio license to the State Troopers.

Friday the State Police at Onondaga county reported they were holding three gypsies there for identification. The three gave their names as Rosalie Miller, 35, William Stevens, 35, of Portsmouth, O., and Louisa Sophia, 35, of Tulsa, Okla. The Miller and Sophia women said they were Indians and Stevens claimed to be a Slav.

The Onondaga police were notified that the trio answered the description of the three persons involved in the Marlborough affair and photographs were sent. Mr.
Sands as well as others identified the trio as the gypsies who passed through Marlborough a week ago. It also was reported from Dutchess county that the trio had made the same sort of advance to Calvin Gray of Dutchess county and when they left he discovered his wallet was gone. In his wallet were only papers.

The trio will be brought back to answer to the Marlborough charge which Mr. Sands made to Sergeant Huise.

Old Police Signal System Dismantled Replaced by New

The old Gamewell police signal system, which has been in continuous operation for 23 years, was officially discontinued and dismantled at 2:50 o'clock Friday afternoon, when the new signal system installed by the New York Telephone Company was placed in operation.

The old Gamewell system was installed in 1915. The new system is leased to the city at a rental of $1,200 a year by the telephone company.

In the years before the Gamewell system of call boxes was installed the patrolmen on duty in the city were forced to use private telephones to report to headquarters in the city hall at 2-hour intervals. With the installation of the Gamewell system with call boxes the patrolmen reported back to headquarters over the system on the hour.

The new system also has call boxes, each with its own telephone by which the officer on post can get in touch with police headquarters.

Additional Court Justice In 9th District Favored

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—The election of an additional supreme court justice in the Ninth Judicial District would be authorized under a bill passed unanimously by the Assembly last night and sent to Governor Lehman for approval or veto.

The measure, sponsored by Republican Senator Pliny Williamson, Westchester county, would provide that the new, and eighth judge, in the district would be elected next November. He would take office January 1, 1939.

Held as Vagrant

Scarlet Fever Epidemic Now on Wane

With the least number of primary cases of scarlet fever reported in the past week than at any similar period during the year, Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, expressed the opinion today that the outbreak of scarlet fever was lessening in the city. So far this month 33 cases of the disease were reported to the health department.

During the past week 10 primary and five secondary cases of scarlet fever were reported. Dr. Sanford said that the letup in the number of cases reported com-

Cardenas Takes $400,000,000 Oil Properties Today

Cardenas Says Interests Campaigned Against Government to Do Harm

Mexico City, March 19 (AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas expropriated American and British oil properties valued at more than $400,000,000 today in a bold stroke designed to end a two-year conflict between labor and foreign capital.

Simultaneously, the Central Bank of Mexico suspended dealings in foreign currency and the president indicated devaluation of the peso was under official consideration.

An extraordinary session of the Chamber of Deputies was called for 11 a. m. (noon E. S. T.) today to vote additional budget appropriations to tide the government over the crisis.

Operations were suspended in the oil industry at one minute after midnight last night as union oil workers, going ahead with a threatened "folded arms strike" forced a shutdown.

It was believed, however, that union headquarters would order the syndicate's 18,000 members back to work promptly in an effort to help Cardenas while he tussled with the admittedly difficult situation.

A bulletin from the Press Bureau early today said the Mexican cabinet had decided upon "means to prevent damage to the financial activities of the country."

Provisional Operation
These included provisional operation of the petroleum industry by the department of national economy and the general petroleum administration.

Another step was representation by the government to all labor unions urging them to refrain from strikes and public manifestations.

Cardenas, broadcasting an explanation of his act, said the foreign oil companies had carried on a "sordid and skillful campaign" against the government, which "has had the result that these same companies sought—to injure seriously the economic interests of the nation, attempting by this means to nullify the legal dispositions dictated by the Mexican authorities."

Procedure Vitiates
The fact that the industry has sent out of the country all its cash vitiated ordinary procedure in the case, the President said, in which ordinary procedure in any case would mean "continuance of a situation that for the sake of decorum ought to be settled forthwith."

He added: "They have had money for rebellion—money for the anti-patriotic press that defends them—money to enrich their unconstitutional defenders, but for the progress of the country, to seek equilibrium through just compensation of labor, for the encouragement of hygiene in the regions where they operate, or to save from destruction the abundant riches which the nation possesses united with petroleum in nature signify, there is no money, nor economic possibility."

Mexican and foreign businessmen this morning found virtual paralysis threatening commercial operations in the wake of the fast-moving events.

Adult Work Head Here for Conference

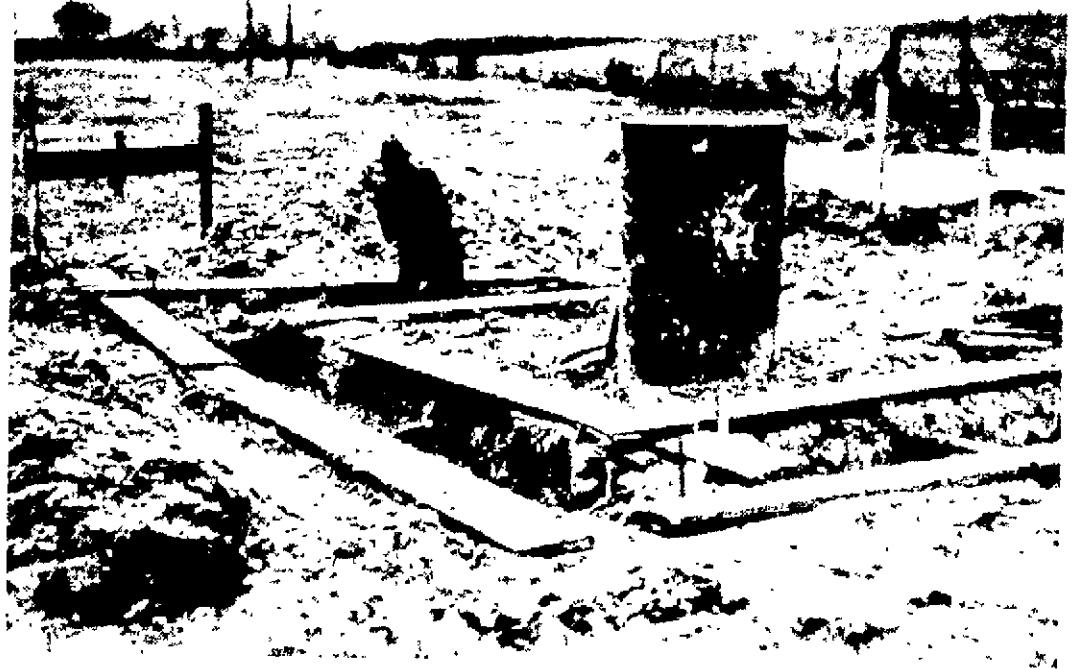

Dr. J. Russell Throckmorton, director of adult work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, arrived in Kingston this morning after holding "adult work" conferences in Newburgh, Ellenville, Liberty, Ravena and Hobart. Tomorrow he will conduct the concluding conferences of this series at Clinton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, where sessions will be held at 2:15 and 7:30 p. m., with all the Methodist Churches in this vicinity participating.

Because of his outstanding success as an adult leader in the pastorate, Dr. Throckmorton was called to lead the denomination in revamping its program of adult Christian education. In his conference Dr. Throckmorton deals not only with the adult work of the church school, but also with the adult work program in connection with the men's clubs and brotherhoods, as well as the missionary societies and ladies' aid societies. It is expected that leaders and workers in these departments of church work as well as all members of official boards of the churches will be present.

These conferences are being conducted under the auspices of the adult committee of the N. Y. Conference commission on religious education, of which the Rev. Howard Dixon McGrath, pastor of Clinton Avenue Church, is chairman. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Joyce expects to finish the foundation and superstructure, for which his contract was made by about May 15.

16 Agencies Listed By New Deal Foes For Full Exemption

Reorganization Opponents
Offer 16 Separate Amendments to Curb Authorized
Roosevelt Powers

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Opponents of the Government Reorganization Bill, defeated in their effort to eliminate sweeping authority for the President to shift bureaus around, proposed today the exemption of 16 agencies from any change.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.) offered 16 separate amendments, on the theory that each agency he listed had enough sentimental friends to assure its retention in present form.

Clark was with the minority yesterday when the Senate rejected, 43 to 29, a proposal of Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) to curb presidential reorganization powers authorized in the bill.

Among the agencies Clark listed for proposed exemption were the forest service, the Tennessee Valley authority, biological survey and the soil conservation service.

Happy at having obtained an agreement to limit debate, Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky predicted passage of the bill by Tuesday.

Experts No Action

The Montana senator said he expected no action from the Senate lobby committee on his demand that it investigate the part he said governors and federal department heads had played in influencing Senate votes.

The committee considered in executive session today possible action against Dr. Edward A. Tamm, secretary of the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government, who refused to turn over record of his organization to the committee yesterday.

Barkley's legislative schedule, held out the prospect of adjournment in midday. The house also made progress, voting tentative approval of the "big navy" bill before adjourning for the week end.

The final vote on the navy bill is to come Monday. The house refused yesterday to eliminate provisions for three new battleships and also rejected an amendment to strike out a clause authorizing the navy to build a $3,000,000 experimental dirigible.

The policy exposition of non-aggression and maintenance of a fleet big enough to defend both coasts was eliminated on a parliamentary technicality.

Would Remove Morgan

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Informed persons expressed the opinion today that President Roosevelt would ask TVA Chairman A. E. Morgan to resign if he refused to cooperate in a presidential inquiry into his quarrel with his fellow directors. Plainly exasperated after a second, futile session yesterday with the three directors,

Bowing to Ultimatum Lithuania Avoids War And Polish Invasion

Fischer Quits As Fire Chief In Ellenville

Confirmation of his intention to resign as fire chief of Ellenville was made today by C. G. A. Fischer, who had served 25 years. His purpose was disclosed at a dinner of the Pioneer Engine Company, after which he had been asked to speak.

Mr. Fischer said today his resignation was suggested by his physician, D. J. C. Coles. Questioned about rumors that dissatisfaction over the village election this week might have been a reason, Mr. Fischer replied: "There's nothing to that."

"I've been fire chief for 25 years," he added, "and that's long enough. I think I did it on advance of my doctor."

Mr. Fischer, who is 71, has been a member of the Schoharie Hose & Hook & Ladder Company 25 years, having joined October 5, 1881. He is also village clerk and has held that post 25 years. He is uncertain, however, as to whether he also will resign that office.

Act Favored to Oust Any Anti-American Officers

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—New York's legislature completed approval today of legislation designed to oust from public office persons advocating forcible overthrow of existing American government.

The Assembly concurred with the Senate, 114 to 27, in passing the measure in its closing hours, sending it to Governor Lehman for his signature or veto.

The bill was admirably introduced by Democratic Senator John J. McNamara, New York Democrat, as the result of the appointment by Manhattan borough President Stanley Isaacs of Simon S. Gerson, a communist, as his chief examiner.

Lehman recently declined to remove Isaacs upon petitions of American Legion units and civic groups.

No Oil Barrels for Ash Collections

Under the provisions of an ordinance relating to the disposal of refuse in the city, which went into effect in October of 1936, the use of large oil barrels in which to place ashes to be collected by the ashmen of the city is banned. The oil barrels also cannot be used to contain rubbish or papers as they are too large for the ashmen to handle.

Superintendent David P. Conway of the Board of Public Works made it plain today that where these large oil barrels are used

Parliament Accepts Demands of Govern- ment and Yields— Plan Agreements

Kaunas, Lithuania, March 19 (AP)—The Lithuanian government and Parliament today bowed grudgingly to an ultimatum backed by the might of Poland's army and navy, and saved her from invasion and Europe from another war.

The Lithuanian minister at Tallinn, Estonia, delivered to Poland's mind to there a note fully accepting Poland demand for reestablishment of diplomatic relations, broken since Poland seized the ancient Lithuanian capital, Wilno, October 9, 1920.

The Polish minister in reply confirmed the resumption of such relations.

Lithuania's Schinas (Parliament) accepted the government's decision to yield. It was announced in the face of the threat of Polish invasion and the general international situation.

Jokubas Stankauskis, minister of communications, thanked envoys of the great powers for their help and advice during the crisis.

Also there were reports that the Polish fleet had put out from Gdynia and was steaming toward Lithuania's coast.

There were predictions of change in the Lithuanian cabinet as a result of this week's development.

Poland's ultimatum, demanding reestablishment of diplomatic relations, resumption of railway and postal communications, negotiation of commercial and customs treaties, withdrawal of Lithuania's constitutional claims to Wilno, and other agreements, had a 45-hour time limit expiring at 3 p. m. (E. S. T.) today.

The government took precautions to prevent outbreaks of public disorder by prohibiting the sale of alcohol after 2 a. m.

No extraordinary military activity was noticed in Lithuania.

(Lithuania's armed forces consist of slightly more than 20,000 men and officers, and 55,000 members of a rifle association trained under government direction. Poland's army is numbered at more than a quarter of a million men and officers.)

TOWNSEND NEWS

Number 1
The Townsend Plan is, first of all, a national recovery plan, not merely an old age pension plan.

Its first objective is to give employment and buying power to the people, then put money in circulation and end want and misery. The old age pensions are merely the means of putting money in circulation and restore prosperity.

It proposes to put money and buying power in the hands of the people. First, by giving every man a job who desires it. Second, by retiring all but six years of age with buying power in the form of old age pensions or annuities. Third, by requiring all those pensioners to spend all their pension within thirty days, and retire from all gainful occupations.

The retirement of all past sixty will create employment by vacating jobs now held by the eight million past sixty. It will also create millions of additional jobs because of the demand for goods and services as a result of this new buying power of the people.

The Townsend Plan provides that the pensions shall be paid by a two per cent transaction tax upon every business transaction. This plan is not new. It was proposed and endorsed by the largest business concerns in the country in 1920 and 1921. The exact amount of the pensions cannot be determined in advance but in no case will it exceed $200 per month.

More details next Saturday. The Kingston Townsend Club meets next Wednesday evening, Mechanics Hall, 14 Henry street. You are cordially invited.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the conspicuous wall decorations in the old Empire Theater building is a group of newspaper clippings proudly framed on one vast board and hung when a play is seen.

These are the reviews of "Broadway" the play that launched Harris and so many other unknowns on successful theatrical careers, and though it has been a full decade since "Broadway" first caused the hardened rattle observers to rub their eyes and hasten back to their typewriters, his face still breaks into a smile every time it is mentioned.

Mr. Harris is a slim, well-groomed young man who started from scratch and earned $5,000,000. That he lost it in Wall Street has no bearing on his record as a Broadway producer. At the moment he has two shows in the hit class, and he probably will do another by Ernest Hemingway whom he recently visited at Key West.

FOR some time now Mr. Harris hasn't thought much of the New York critics, and when I asked him what he thought of the reviews on "Our Town," which is one of his two hits, he thought for a moment and said: "They were on an average level of unintelligence." About the reviews on "A Doll's House"? "These struck a very high level of intelligence."

He thinks not only the critics but the playwrights will have to bring themselves up to the level of ten years ago if the theater is ever to be "the theater of pure entertainment" again. And just now he doesn't think much of the present playwrights, who give their all in Hollywood and race back to N. Y. occasionally with a left-over script. The main hope, he feels, lies in new writers, such as Thornton Wilder and Hemingway, "who is passing through a transition just now which may conceivably make him a great man as well as a great writer."

INCIDENTALLY, while talking play with Hemingway, Mr. H. found opportunity to accompany him on a fishing trip and also a hunt. "He was enthusiastic about my shooting," Harris recalls, grinning. "He says he'd like to turn me loose against the Spanish fascists."

As for Hemingway's play, which will touch off the Spanish war, Harris says little beyond the fact that he talked shop with Ernest and feels the script has merit. After four days in Florida he returned, and five days later Hemingway's play agent flew to New York, carrying only a briefcase and a small bag.

A Near Quarrel

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WILLY NILLY had opened the door for the bears and out they had walked, ready for their first spring stroll.

They were looking forward to the fresh spring goodies they would find, the soft breezes, the delicious smells of spring. And they knew that in a short time they would be husky once more.

"I'm sorry that we couldn't have entertained you better," Willy Nilly now said to his guests. "You see we were so excited at seeing our bears once again. We haven't seen them since the fall."

"You certainly heard them—almost before they had growled," said the chimpanzee, "I suppose it is because your ears stick out that you can hear sounds so quickly. They reach you sooner than they would some one who had ears further back."

"Are you making rude remarks about Willy Nilly's ears?" shrieked Christopher Columbus Crow.

"Let's give him a good beating," barked Rip.

"The idea of talking like that about our Willy Nilly," bleated Sniffles.

"Well, now you," cackled Top Notch. And all the Puddle Muddlers started for the chimpanzee.

"Wait, wait," cried the chimpanzee, "I did not mean to be rude. I meant to compliment him. I have large ears. I am not offended if any one says so."

"Large ears, large ears," cried the Puddle Muddlers. The chimpanzee grinned.

"You can take it," admitted Christopher. "I don't believe you meant any harm."

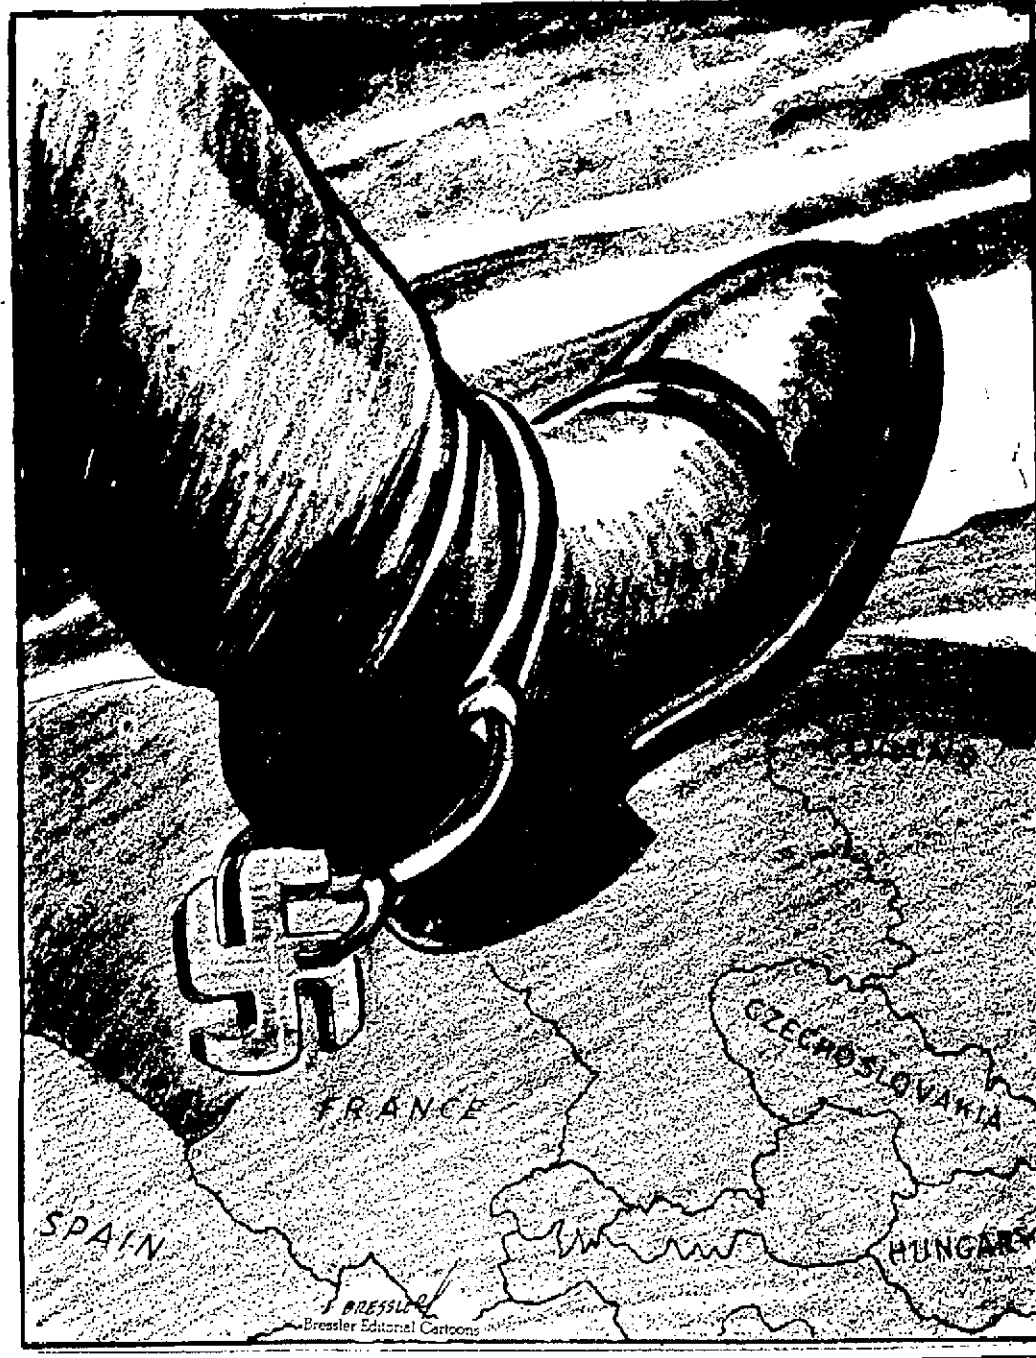

Willy Nilly sighed with relief. There had almost been a quarrel, but now all was jolly.

to become the pastor of the churches in Marletown, Rochester, and Wawarsing. He accepted the call and remained the pastor until 1786. From that year to 1789, these churches again had no settled pastor, but ministers from other churches preached to them. During this time baptisms were performed by the Rev. Derrick Romeyn, the Rev. Jacob R. Hardenbergh, and the Rev. Stephen Goetchius.

On December 1, 1789, a call was extended to the Rev. Abraham Van Horn. He accepted the call and remained the pastor of the three churches until 1795.

Thus we have a sketch of the early history of the Reformed Church of Stone Ridge—another church organization that is over two centuries old and is serving its community today under the leadership of the Rev. Harold Hoffman.

Marletown Church, Stone Ridge

Freeman Photo

The first records of any Reformed Church building in the town of Marletown, Stone Ridge, are dated 1743 during the pastorate of the Rev. Petrus Van der Vliet and the Rev. George E. Manlius.

Where the early ministers of the First Reformed Church of Kingston preached in Marletown is not known, but one fact is certain—church services were held in Marletown long before 1743. These might have been conducted in private homes or in some sort of a church building—but no records seem to exist to verify the locations.

Early Documents After the organization and erection of a Reformed Church in Marletown in the year 1743, the early settlers of Kripplebush also became connected with that church and had their children baptized by its ministers. Generations have passed away since this first church came into existence. The memories of the early days of its history are dead, and as traditions are untrustworthy, we are confined to the preserved records of transcribing events for the material from which to construct a connected story of its part in the past religious life of Marletown.

The early history of the First Reformed Church in Marletown is much interwoven with the First Reformed Church in Kingston. In the library of the seminary of the Reformed Church at New Brunswick, New Jersey, there are more than 1,000 letters known as the "Amsterdam Correspondence and Documents." In these letters is found a reference to the old Marletown Reformed Church, antecedent any other reference that has been discovered. It is in the form of a request of the consistory of Kingston, Hurley and Marletown Reformed Churches and is addressed to "Lord Edmund Andros, Governor General under his Royal Highness, James Duke of York, over all his territories in America," and reads as follows: "Inasmuch as we in the three villages are at present without a pastor and cannot be served by our neighbors, being so far from each other, we have by voluntary promises secured 600 bushels of wheat for which we would gladly call a pastor. Now it is our humble request to your Honor that your Honor may be pleased to permit us to call a pastor, and in which your Honor may be pleased to be favorable to us in calling of the same."

This document is dated September 27, 1677 and is signed by the consistory of Kingston, Hurley and Marletown. The petition was signed and approved by Governor Andros on October 5th of the same year. This petition brought over from Holland the Rev. Laurentius Van Gasbeck. From this record we may conclude that the pastors of the First Reformed Church of Kingston attended to the spiritual wants of the people in Marletown with such services as they were able to render during the years of which we have no record.

In the year 1679 the minister at Kingston reported in the minutes of his church, 20 members in Marletown. It is stated that in the year 1730 there were meeting places or houses at Hurley, Marletown, and other places but although allowed one Elder and one Deacon, they were appendages of the first Reformed Church of Kingston and dependent upon the ministers of that place for religious teaching.

In the year 1727, the Rev. Jan Van Driesen, who was settled at Livingston Manor, began to visit remote settlements of Ulster county. The minutes of that church state that he preached in Marletown on August 23, 1731. We learn from the records that it was no trivial matter to call a pastor in those days. And when we perceive how two, three, and even four congregations united in making a call upon one man as their pastor, we learn there must have been a unity of feeling.

When the inhabitants of a sweep of country 30 miles square cast their united vote for the same pastor to dispense the Gospels to them, and that perhaps only once a month, their interest in the cause of Christ becomes clearly apparent. When they did not enjoy the services of a settled pastor they were occasional-

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The Story So Far: Reuben Oliver, self-made millionaire, is held to his farm in Maryland's hazy district by Judith Goodloe, a girl who doesn't even recognize his existence. Red-headed Cissy Rogers comes to dig him out, but cannot persuade Reuben to fight for his evaporating fortune. Meanwhile, tea is being served at Goodloe's Choice, and woe to the climber penetrating the boxwood hedge. Judith's heart is singing. Gary is home!

Chapter Five Sweet Enchantment

JUDITH'S desire to speak of the absent one was too strong to be downed. "Have you seen him?"

"No, I was sure I'd find him here," said Dick Blout.

Judith examined the heel of her scuffed riding boot. "Gary seldom rushes anywhere."

"Since when?" A smile chased over Dick's face. "Unless my memory fails, he never goes anywhere at a sane or safe pace, and unless my ears are deceiving me, I hear this minute someone approaching at Freeman's speed."

His teasing eyes met Judith's honest ones that had not learned to wear a mask. His smile vanished. So! That was how it was! Little Judy, grown up and—in love. He sighed for his own lost youth.

Caught in a wave of emotion, Judith forgot to be critical of Gary's kiss.

"How old are you, Judy?" "Twenty."

"Feeling feeble?"

"Not exactly."

"Then why don't you run to meet Gary?"

But she did not run to meet Gary. True, her spirit was catapulted somewhere in breathless, dizzying space but the physical Judith remained lazily calm in her basket chair while her heart ticked out:

"In another minute—I'll know—they'll all be watching like cats at a mouse hole—I mustn't give myself away—but I'll know—if he doesn't care—I can't bear it!"

Gary's arrival was spectacular. He came dashing up the drive, on his splendid sorrel—bare-headed, broad shouldered, gloriously sure of his seat.

"Hail! Cheerio! Adsum!" The crop he waved might have been a conqueror's sword.

At his claxon call the little group under the trees stirred in unison, as a wheatfield is stirred by a breeze. Langor fell from it. Everyone except Amanda arose to greet the newcomer.

He came on, waving, not drawing rein until he was a scant three inches from the bowing, smiling Amos. Then flinging himself from the saddle, he crossed the little strip of grass at a bound and, for all the world to see, swept Judith into his embrace.

"Judy—bless my soul, I'm glad to see you!"

Recklessly he bent his handsome head and kissed her squarely upon her curving, red lips. "Are you glad to see me, Judy?"

"Too long!"

HAD Judith been less glad to see him she might have found fault with the flavor of that kiss. It was so frankly joyous, so completely a part of Gary's exuberance but caught in a great wave of ineffably sweet emotion, Judith was not critical.

"When," breathlessly, "did you come?"

"Hour ago. Couldn't wait to see you."

"It's been a long time."

"Too long."

For the flash of a second they might have been alone in a newly created world, each discovering the miracle of the other. Garden,

JOBS FOR LOCAL TEACHERS

Under a bill introduced in the state legislature by Assemblyman R. Foster Piper, Republican, of Erie county, all state normal schools would be made teachers' colleges. If this bill becomes a law it would mean that the New Paltz Normal School would become a four-year college, making its students eligible for university scholarships.

Assemblyman Piper in a memorandum filed with the bill, contends that New York state has lagged behind other states in respect to teachers' training. He states that during the past 20 years the term normal school has become obsolete in most states, as these schools have been advanced to teachers' colleges by offering four year courses to their students, and granting degrees to their graduates.

Those who favor the Piper bill contend that students who attend normal schools in this state have not the money to further their education at Columbia or New York University, but that each year more school superintendents are demanding that teaching candidates have degrees.

In an editorial appearing in the Nepano, the New Paltz Normal School weekly paper, it calls attention to the fact that the newspaper is starting a petition signed by those favoring the bill which will be forwarded to Assemblyman Piper.

The contention is made that a four year course at New Paltz Normal School would mean in time more students and an increase in business. It would appear on the face of it that those favoring the bill have advanced strong arguments in favor of the adoption of the proposed legislation. Without going too deeply into the merits of the proposition, it would seem that those favoring the bill appear to have made out a case. Another point that might be raised locally is that residents could then fill many of the positions in the high school departments as they do now in the grade schools. Local residents having the necessary qualifications should be given the preference in local schools. It is expected that local resident teachers, who are not otherwise supported, will be given employment in the new school which is now under construction.

STRANGE IDEALIST

Clarence Darrow, a cynical idealist, is remembered as a man who, starting without advantages, educated himself beyond the ordinary; also as a man who devoted most of his life to "fighting for the under-dog."

There were disadvantages and inconsistencies in both of these pursuits. Darrow suffered, as do most self-educated men, from a lack of mental proportion. The fellow who goes through high school and college is not only learning things out of books; he is checking up his knowledge and matching his wits, all along, with people who know more than he does. The self-teacher is likely to grow unduly opinionated, half-digesting his knowledge and following squirrel tracks. He may appear a great scholar to the ignorant, while remaining half-educated in the eyes of the scholarly.

For that, Darrow was not to be blamed. He had a good mind, and it was remarkable that, with his handicaps, he accomplished what he did.

It is easier to criticize him, if anyone feels like criticizing, for his erratic method of championing the "under-dog." He seemed to do it without discrimination, and so did harm along with the good. He even seemed to pride himself on defending, in court and in print, criminals of the lowest moral and the least claims on society, instead of picking out the deserving cases of social and economic wrong.

Thus he lost many early admirers. His finest efforts were in defense of freedom of thought.

FOREIGN INVESTMENTS

It is reassuring to learn that loans and direct investments abroad, held by Americans, declined $4,000,000,000 from 1929 to 1935. They are doubtless lower yet by this time. Our people, however, still have plenty of money invested abroad—about $13,000,000,000 of private funds, and government debts of the same amount. We have long given up hope of collecting those public claims, and will probably be lucky if we ever get back more than half of the private claims.

Much has been said, in recent years, regarding the poor judgment of the government in lending so much money to foreign governments during and shortly after the World War. Most of those loans, though, seemed justified at the time, and might be regarded as part of the "mopping up" of the mess in which that enterprise involved us.

As for our private investments abroad, it must be admitted that billions of them have been at least as ill-advised as those made by the government. Our people have been too easy marks, taking too lightly the recommendations of self-interested salesmen and sponsors of foreign loans, both in Europe and Latin-America. We had better invest our money at home hereafter.

EFFECT OF TRAINING

In the Boston Marathon race a few years ago research workers of Harvard University examined the blood of the runners immediately after the race. They found that the blood of those who finished well up in the race and those in good condition at the finish, was rich in sugar, and in those who finished near the end of the list or were in poor condition at the finish, the blood was poor in sugar. It was suggested to those who finished low down on the list or were in poor condition at the finish that they use more sugar during their training. The following year, and that during the race itself they eat some sugar.

Without exception these runners finished further up in the race and were in better condition physically at the end of the race than they had been the year before. This was all due to the presence of more sugar in the blood.

In Europe a research worker, Ove Hoje, found that the height of the blood level remains about the same or falls but slightly in trained individuals during one hour of average work, while an increase of 50 per cent in the amount of work done causes marked increase in the amount of sugar in the blood.

In untrained individuals there is nearly always a decrease of blood sugar during work and the amount becomes still less as the work increases; but this decrease disappears after a few months' training.

This means then that an individual with a well trained body can continue to work for a long time without exhausting the sugar in the blood; in fact instead of the sugar in the blood decreasing it actually increases, whereas in an individual not in "shape" or not in training, the blood sugar is soon exhausted and he cannot continue to work because of lack of energy. But, and this is the big point for all of us, "this decrease in blood sugar in untrained individuals disappears after a few months' training."

Just think then of the wonderful effect of exercise in that a few months' training will put the average healthy individual into such physical condition that his blood sugar will not decrease but remain at a normal level or actually increase during work or exercise.

Truly, Gladstone realized this when he said that "All time and effort spent in training the body pays a larger rate of interest than any other investment."

OFFICE CAT

There was a time when news reporters tried to figure out who was to blame in an auto accident. But no more. They know it is faulty steering gears, wet pavements, tire blowouts, bum curves—anything except ourselves.

Something for you to consider when getting under the steering wheel of your car and out upon the broad highway is the cost of accidents, hospital expense and loss of salaries. If we ever learn to treat automobile accidents as economic, we see no reason why everybody will not use more caution. Once you touch a man's pocketbook, you have touched both his heart and his head.

A certain man, who runs a filling station, found himself with some bad checks and also several bills impossible to collect. But he did not do any of the usual things. He framed the checks and those indebted to him and the amount they owed and hung the frame in a conspicuous place. Novel idea, don't you think, and it worked!

Four years last December 6, the United States became legally wet after being theoretically dry for 13 years. Liquor interests are now alarmed at the possibility that prohibition may be returned because of public sentiment aroused over traffic deaths due to intoxication. Records show that arrests for driving while intoxicated are constantly increasing and that one-fifth of those involved in traffic fatalities had been drinking.

Of all the crimes committed, we believe drunken driving of automobiles top the list. One thing is sure, you can't handle these cases with kid gloves, and the quicker something more definite is done, the quicker beneficial results will be obtained.

Colly—What do you think of my new red roadster?
Reggie—Is that what it is? Why, I followed you for 19 miles yesterday—thought you were the fire chief.

Then there are those old-fashioned people who die in their beds—instead of being murdered among the toll of fatal accidents on the highways or elsewhere.

The boy who had to go to summer school because he hadn't passed out of the fourth grade, brought home a bad report card: Father (reading report card)—D in work, D in effort, D in conduct. That settles it. From now on you and I are through!

Son (regarding his father scornfully)—Stop deluding yourself, Dad. Just remember that I'm still an exemption on your income tax return.

The applicant for a job in the country asked what his duties

Dinner Dance by Rosendale Society

As part of the rotation schedule of promotion meetings, by which different groups of the Rosendale Society living in and about metropolitan New York have been introduced into the workings of their new society, and as a prelude to the first annual reception and dance to be tendered by the society at the Hotel Park Central, New York city, on April 29, 1933, the trustees arranged a dinner-dance on March 17 in one of the lovely banquet rooms of the hotel.

The fact that the regularly scheduled meeting of the society happened to fall on St. Patrick's night was seized upon by the trustees as a reason for holding a party rather than ordinary talk-test and the idea proved to be a grand success.

Despite a downpour of rain which had drenched the city all afternoon a notable cross-section of the Rosendale group living in New York, Long Island, Staten Island and New Jersey, were at hand to join in the fun.

A toast having been offered to Rosendale and to old Ireland by James Butler, of Bayonne, and loudly acclaimed by all, the party seated themselves at the table of the Colonial Room banquet hall to dine, sing and regale themselves.

The dinner, which did justice to the famous chef of the Park Central, consisted of the following:

- Fruit Cocktail Refranch
- Hearts of Celery
- Queen Olives
- Consomme Julienne
- Hall Roast Spring Broiler
- New Peas au Bourgeoise
- Pan Roast Potato
- Mixed Green Salad
- Ice Cream Log Park Central
- Petit Fours
- Deaf Tasse

Following the dinner, James C. Huben, toastmaster, introduced to the society Mallick J. Fitzpatrick, of High Falls, Stanley Jordan, of Cotekill, Paul Sherman, of Springtown, Miss Catherine Whalen, of Binnewater, Mrs. Mary D. Keller, of Whiteport, Sidney Hager, of Cotekill, and Miss Bertie Geisler, of Rosendale. Of the group of speakers, those of Irish descent did themselves proud as befits the day that is reserved exclusively to the Irish, and all of the speakers joined in urging the friends of the society to get behind the big dance and double the quota of 1,000 old Rosendalers under one roof on April 29, which is the goal of the society's present endeavors. After the dinner, young Rosendale introduced the Big Apple, the Slang and Trucking to the older group, who once thought the square dance, and later the Paul Jones, the height of sophistication.

Blossom Festival Opens in Kingston With Musical Event

Ulster county's first Apple Blossom Festival will be officially opened in Kingston on Friday evening, May 6, with a concert in which 250 male voices will participate, including the famous Union College Glee Club. This opening concert will be held in the Municipal Auditorium, and will be followed by a dance.

Dr. Elmer Tidmarsh, director of music in Union College, will arrange the program and conduct the singing. There will be groups of men singers from Schoenectady, Troy, Poughkeepsie and Kingston participating in the program.

Dr. Tidmarsh is well known locally and his ability in arranging an interesting evening of music is too well known to emphasize at this time.

The Union College Glee Club will also put on several numbers. This club of well trained young men singers is widely known and has been heard from time to time over the radio. Many music lovers in Kingston are familiar with the programs offered by this Glee Club, and the fact that they will be on the program is assurance enough that the concert will be well worth hearing and will prove one of the finest musical events in the city's history.

All of the men who will sing are well trained and all are familiar with Dr. Tidmarsh's methods. The concert is being arranged by the music committee of the Apple Blossom Festival and will be just one event in the three days' celebration that will stand out in the memory of those who attend.

As soon as plans are formulated further details of this big concert will be announced.

Rules of the contest provide that words and music must be neatly written in ink and fitted together. It is suggested that contestants keep in mind the desirability of choosing a very simple melody.

The bureau is open on Tuesdays and Fridays from one until three, and the telephone number is 3798-J. Besides giving financial aid in many cases the bureau is often the means of directing other cases to the proper source for the particular kind of aid needed.

To clarify the work which is being done, the following cases may be cited: A young girl who had to have all her front teeth removed and who could not afford to replace them, was suffering from an embarrassment which could easily develop into a personality problem. No allowance is made in the budget of any other welfare organization for this type of relief and the case was referred to the Junior League Bureau with the result that the work was done immediately. Another case is that of a child who had to have a specially built shoe for a deformed foot. This case applied to the bureau, but since the Rotary Club specializes in this type of welfare work, the case was referred to it and the child's needs are now being cared for.

The Junior League wishes to contact through doctors and welfare workers those cases which are known as "borderline"; that is persons who while they are self-supporting, nevertheless need aid in cases of an emergency caused by sickness, or who need some physical appliance, such as a brace or truss which is beyond their means.

The supplies which are dispensed by the Junior League are available to anyone. Persons wishing to use any of the articles, need not be recommended by a doctor or welfare worker, but may apply of their own accord. There is a time limit set on the use of the supplies but this may be extended when necessary. After each article is returned it is sterilized at the Kingston Hospital. Following is a list of the supplies maintained:

Hospital bed, rubberair rings, bed tray, hot water bottles, lee bags, irrigation cans, urinals, rubber sheets, kidney basins, bed-pans, drinking tubes, mouth thermometer, rectal thermometer, ace bandages, hernia belts, wrist strap, douche pans, back rests, wheel chairs, crutches, electric pad, bed gowns.
